Spring 2018 CETL Adjunct Learning Event

When: Saturday, January 6, 2018 - 8:00am until 12:00pm

Where: SPC Clearwater Campus, 2465 Drew St. Clearwater FL 33765 (ES Building)

Agenda

8:00 – 8:30am: Light breakfast, sign-in, & meet and greet in ES 104

8:30 – 8:50am: Welcome message from Heather Roberson, CETL

8:50 – 9:50am: General Session: Teaching Techniques in the Classroom - Interactive panel and discussion with expert faculty on best practices and tips for effective classroom teaching

10:00 – 10:50am: Workshop Session I

Topic	Facilitator	Room #	Description
CourseFit & Faculty Tools/SParC	I Tech Team	ES 203	Faculty are invited to drop in to our CourseFit session, where our Instructional Design & Development Team will be available for one-on-one help preparing your course for the new semester, practicing with specific MyCourses tools, and troubleshooting issues you have run into.
Increasing Student Engagement Through Academic Games	Andy Larson & Nancy Watkins	ES 123	Participants will learn how to use gaming as well as best practice classroom methods with a heavy dose of technology that will be authentic and relevant to preparing students for life in the 21st century, regardless of whether they choose to pursue academic or work related goals.
Academic Integrity	Christian Moriarty	ES 127	This session will cover Turnitin plagiarism checks; timed exams online; reporting cases of academic dishonesty and teachable moments.
Stepping into Daylight!	Michelle Piper	ES 220	In Summer 2018, SPC will be piloting an upgrade to MyCourses known as Daylight. This upgrade provides improved support for engaging students, advances to MyCourses accessibility tools, and a more modern look and browsing experience. Stop by this session to learn more!
Developing Better Writers & Thinkers in any Learning Environment	Jennifer Haber	ES 125	This session will provide strategies to develop better writers and thinkers. Some of the strategies will include best practices for instructors in any discipline: sharing effective reading and writing, developing good writing habits, using rewriting, & providing thoughtful – but not elaborate – feedback.

Spring 2018 CETL Adjunct Learning Event

11:00 – 11:50am: Workshop Session II

Title	Facilitator	Room #	Description
CourseFit & Faculty Tools/SParC	I Tech Team	ES 203	Faculty are invited to drop in to our CourseFit session, where our Instructional Design & Development Team will be available for one-on-one help preparing your course for the new semester, practicing with specific MyCourses tools, and troubleshooting issues you have run into.
Increasing Student Engagement Through Academic Games	Andy Larson & Nancy Watkins	ES 123	Participants will learn how to use gaming as well as best practice classroom methods with a heavy dose of technology that will be authentic and relevant to preparing students for life in the 21st century, regardless of whether they choose to pursue academic or work related goals.
You're Funnier than You Think	Christian Moriarty	ES 127	This session will discuss how you can add a little funny business of your own to your classroom while using the Socratic method to elicit critical thinking.
Title III	Gene Lloyd	ES 220	ALTs serve as support materials, which aid in out of class academic learning as well as non-academic skills in time management, test taking & financial literacy. Come and discuss how toolkits were developed to assist you, how to incorporate toolkits into course materials, & learn to develop your own toolkit lesson materials.
Developing Better Writers & Thinkers in any Learning Environment	Jennifer Haber	ES 125	This session will provide strategies to develop better writers and thinkers. Some of the strategies will include best practices for instructors in any discipline: sharing effective reading and writing, developing good writing habits, using rewriting, & providing thoughtful – but not elaborate – feedback.